Saturday, 26.11.2022

9.00 am

Start of fair

11.00 – 12.00 am
Room Berlin - Paris

What do climbing and ecology have in common:
Striving for efficiency (d/e)

In the presentation, the need for environmental and climate protection in general and from the company's perspective will be discussed in more detail. The current funding programs and their hurdles will be described. Practical examples with considerations of economic efficiency complete the lecture. The focus is particularly on the building sector, but related topics are also considered.

Speaker: Dr. Ulrich Kohaupt, RKW BW - enabler of small and medium-sized enterprises

2.00 – 3.00 pm
Room Berlin - Paris

Diversity in route setting and climbing –
How diverse is climbing really?

Historically male-dominated and for a long time inadmissible for women, climbing is now considered to be a sport that welcomes everyone. Climbing should be easily accessible, virtually free of -isms of any kind, and stands for openness. Using climbing, bouldering and route setting as example, we dare to take a look at the climbing sport as FINTA+people* experience it. How diverse is climbing really? Which myths persist and which solutions are there? What is diverse route setting and why is it so important for the climbing experience?

* „FINTA+“ means: Female, Inter-, Non-, Trans- and A-gender Persons.

Speakers: Team Routesetting Symposium

5.00 pm

End of fair

6.00 pm

Bouldering competition in the bouldering gym „Greifbar“
An exciting competition enlivened by fast-paced DJ-Beats
